7 Prettier than a painting

KEIRA KNIGHTLEY looked like a work of modern art in a painterly Erdem gown on March 21. The dress' fitted bodice showed off her slim figure and balanced out the long, full skirt. A messy bun added the perfect breezy touch.

6 Smartest street style

Not everyone can pull off a big floppy hat, but VANESSA HUDGENS looked adorable in hers on March 23, pairing it with a simple shirtdress (belted for a more fitted, flattering shape), flat sandals and her favorite Balenciaga bag.

Twice the glamour
Platform pumps gave her petite figure a boost.

5 Old-world lace feels new

Big Love's GINNIFER GOODWIN stole the spotlight in a long-sleeve Valentino dress at the Genesis Awards on March 20, expertly balancing the intricate lace overlay with subtle add-ons: a simple band, diamond studs and the perfect pixie 'do.
